from the same captain, who had lately visited all their villages, and told them that he might visit anywhere now, as they were showed him a new fence which they had made round the house and garden. They were planting the guinea corn and replying to his questions, he told me that he was now waiting for my return, and that he was full of powers of a man-of-war to destroy were only hairy men, and that now since they had some of the same men fighting with white people. A letter that I wrote him was sent from Mr. Ingle confirms the captain's report, and I have since learned that he had made most beneficial assistance on the Tannese at Port Moresby for some time. Indeed, apparently all that was desired has been gained, so that we may now return to our duties.

The chiefs and people punished were not innumerable, but most guilty parties. They were not ignorant slaves, but were represented, but to a large extent enlightened. Many of them were young men, who had been to Sydney, and speak English well. I spent about three years among the Tannese, instructing them, and preached the Gospel there for many years, and visited all their villages, so that they were enlightened to a right knowledge of God.

The Tannese were not punished to force them to receive Christianity, but to show them that they were wrong.

...and that every man on board the Cargaret and the Day Spring would have confessed with abhorrence such a course. They were punished for crimes committed, it is possible, to keep them from such in future. I believe that civil government is God's ordinance, "For the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well," and that it is our duty to avail ourselves of its protection when possible.

The missionaries did not force themselves upon the natives, or on the natives of any of our islands; this we possibility—anyone doing so would pay for it with his life. The Tannees requested missionaries to come and live among them. And the very chiefs and people who were united made the request, and built a house for me to keep in till my own was ready, and which we afterwards used as a church. They cheerfully sold land, first to Messrs. Hiddle and Inglis, and afterwards to me, on which, some premises were built, and they fumed in this house and garden for me. When some were very troublesome in 1849, when Captain Vernon, in H. M. ship Cordoba, visited Tanna, the people punished opposed my leaving, and promised to protect me. Again, in 1851 or '52, when Commodore Seymour visited Tanna, those very chiefs who ad been most troublesome protested against my leaving, and all they could to retain me, promising to protect me, though it should cost them their lives; but soon after their promises were disregarded.

At Zurichmang, through Mr. Gordon's influence, and that of his native Christians, some six or seven chiefs and a large number of people met Commodore Sir William Wiseman and promised to act in accordance with his just demands for the future, giving up fighting and plundering white people, &c., and to protect the missionaries; and as the Commodore had not the time or means prepared for him to go ashore and try to take by force the murderers of the missionaries and others—for within the last twelve months alone thirteen ten murdered persons in the annual-wood trade had been murdered and taken by the same tribe that murdered the Gorda's—having given good advice, and said he would call in on his way back, and see how they had fulfilled their promises, and punish if they broke them. The Commodore's ship sailed for Fato, and left in peace, leaving in accordance with his promise called at Sira-mango on his way back, and finding that the natives had broken their promises, and continued fighting the British subjects and native Christians, Sir William resolved to head the villages of two of the leading officers. Having

Every missionary warned them to remove their women and children. Not a single life was lost on either side, but the circumstances have caused them to leave the natives and Europeans, and has had a salutary influence all over the island as evinced by Mr Gordon in a letter just received, they refuse now to let him leave Eremang, and praise him for his good work.

Every missionary in our mission accompanied the Day Spring and Curoso, and the following letter will show our feelings in relation of the Commodore and his crew, and I hope will have been read to give satisfaction to the friends of our mission, give us will for the sake of justice and of our mission, give us will a circulation to the record of all the acts as they occurred.

I remain, yours respectfully

JOHN G. PATON.

PURE BRED LEICESTER SHEEP.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—In answer to the letter which appears in to-day's issue, signed "Rusticus," I will endeavour to give him the information which he requires in reference to the pure bred Leicester sheep. The pure breeds are to be had in Victoria from the following persons:

Southdowns, and Cotswolds, known to be the most payable breeds for small settlers, who do not breed for wool, but only for carcase. The Romney Marsh are also a good paying sheep, but not at all adapted to the Australia. I have tried them in Victoria, and notwithstanding the most careful management, they deteriorated in carcase and wool.

About six months ago I was in Auckland, and inspected some sheep that were for sale in the yards of Mr. Jack-land, and without exception they were the finest specimens of pure bred Leicesters that I have seen since leaving England. In Christchurch I saw some splendid Cotswolds, and in Wellington some good Southdowns, but I must confess they were scarcely up to the others.

Bourne, to attend the Port Phillip Farmers Society's Show, and there saw six head of pure bred Leicester wethers exhibited after the show; they were sold to a butcher in Bourke-street; and, as far as I could learn, their net weights, after dressing, were, respectively—213, 204, 202, 197, 196, 191 lbs. They were fed in an enclosed lucerne paddock, and were 2½ years old.

extensive aquatters to cultivate the breed of the merino for the sake of the wool, but us farmers do not believe in the wool, we must have carcase; and as I am now going to reside on a large farm in the county of Cumberland, I hope, before twelve months are over, that I will produce such lambs and wethers as have never before been seen in the Sydney market.

I observe a gentleman in town, advertising some pure-bred Leicester sheep for sale, to arrive from New Zealand; also, other breeds. If "Rusticus" wishes to invest, he, I have no doubt, can get any further information on the subject.

I remain, &c.

MERINO.

ARRIVAL OF THE WONGA WONGA AT ADELAIDE, WITH THE ENGLISH MAIL. PER ELLORA.

[A portion of the following appeared in a second edition published at 6 p.m. yesterday.]

FROM OUR KING GEORGE'S SOUND TELEGRAPHIC CORRESPONDENT.

Adelaide, Friday, 3 p.m.
The Wonga Wonga arrived at Glenelg Pier, at 9 a.m. Her passage to the Sound occupied 101 hours, and from thence ninety-two hours.

The P. and O. steamer Ellora, Captain Skottowe, arrived at King George's Sound at 9 a.m. on the 13th instant, having left Galle on the 26th October.

PAS-ENGERS.
FOR SYDNEY.—Messrs. Pike, Hanley, Terry, Ridley, Crouch, Allan, Stampy, Paste, Walton, Saddington, St. Jean, Jones, Johnson, and Nickline.

FOR MELBOURNE.—Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Messrs. Swan, Ball, Pritchard, Carson, Wal-lack, Spiro, Harris, Joshua, Whitney, Walker, Donald, Goldsborough, and Pongdestre.

FOR SOUTH AUSTRALIA AND KING GEORGE'S SOUND.—Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Gerber, Inspector Reid, Messrs. Spicer and Bloomfield.

The unusual detention of the mail this month has arisen in consequence of the delays of the arrival of the P. and O. Company's steamers—firstly, the Mooltan, from Suez to Galle, arrived at the latter place four days after her time; secondly, the steamer Ellora, although meeting with only moderate trade winds during the passage from Galle, ran short of coal, and was compelled to put into Fremantle to obtain a fresh supply; and most fortunately the P. and O. Company, a very short time ago, sent 300 tons there. The Ellora was thus enabled to proceed with her mails and passengers. She arrived at Fremantle at 3 p.m., on the 10th instant, and left at 5.30 p.m. on the 11th. The Ellora was to leave the Sound at 11 p.m. on the 13th instant.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

London, 26th September.
The Australian (July) mail was delivered in London via Marseilles on the 14th, and via Southampton on the 21st September.

The Queen is residing at Balmoral, living in strict privacy, and enjoys excellent health. Lord Palmerston's ill health causes much concern to the nation.

The Governor-General of Canada was to sail for Europe on the 16th September. Mr. Mouens, captured by brigands, has been ransomed.

Admiral Cochrane has been appointed Admiral of the Fleet.

The heat during the past month has been quite tropical.

The Bishop of Victoria resigns his see, his successor, the Rev. Dr. Oakley, died on the 15th instant.

The cattle disease still rages in spite of all science and care; herds of cows, calves, and sheep are carried off by thousands, and it is asserted that poultry and swine are becoming infected. Medical evidence given on the death of a veterinary surgeon proves that the human frame is also susceptible of it.

Provisions of all kinds are very dear. Beef is 1s. per lb.; mutton 1s. 4d.; butter, 1s. 4d., and milk double the usual price.

The cholera still rages at various Mediterranean ports, and 104,000 people have left Marseilles.

At Constantinople alone 1000 die daily.

The Irish Government discovered a conspiracy of the Finians, and seized about 120 people, and their Press representative. Drilling in uniform has commenced. Arrests have been made in the leading cities of Ireland, and on board steamers from America, where large meetings are held, funds subscribed, and arms collected. Many Irish officers in the Federal service are implicated, and have been arrested; even some of our own soldiers have been employed as drill instructors. Cork city and county has been disarmed, and a gunboat cruiser is off the coast to intercept a vessel reported to have left American ports with arms. One vessel, with 130 tons of ammunition, has been already seized.

Railway traffic was opened in Scotland on Sundays, and is well patronised.

The London Australian Agency Company is formed with a capital of £1,000,000, to make advances on wool and other produce.

Clegh and Co.'s business has been purchased at £60,000.

The injurious action of the Aborigines Protection Society, in connection with New Zealand affairs, is strongly condemned.

The British gun-boat Urgent reports the loss of the Atlantic Telegraph buoys.

The French horse Gladiator was again victorious at Doncaster, winning the St. Leger with ease.

Jefferson, the American comedian, proved a great success in London; he is drawing large houses, and is highly spoken of by the Press.

The conduct of the Times is condemned by the British public, owing to its vacillating policy regarding the American question.

Child murder is increasing at a fearful rate, and it is proposed to gawotte all seducers with name, title, avocation, and address.

The fight for the championship, between Mace and Wormald, was forfeited by the latter.

The Russo-American telegraph has been commenced at various points.

There is a proposed reunion of French and English Fleets at Toulon and Malta next year.

AMERICA.

Reports published about a difference in the Washington Cabinet on the reconstruction question is officially denied. President Johnson intends pursuing the programme of restoration already commenced, promising early restoration of the Habeas Corpus Act, and withdrawal of troops from the South.

Bitter feuds exist between whites and blacks. The latter are brutally treated, and hunted down like dogs and murdered at the rate of one hundred a day.

Numerous outrages on white females, and murders by North Carolina negroes, are reported.

Ex-President Davis's health is restored. The popular excitement against him has abated, and numerous petitions on his behalf from ladies have been presented. His trial will shortly commence in the civil court.

General Butler, with the Attorney-General, take a prominent position in this public prosecution.

There is great excitement at Washington owing to a gigantic swindle upon Federal soldiers by paymasters. Many bankers were in collusion with the latter.

A great meeting has been held at Richmond, asserting loyalty to the Union, acknowledging slavery ended, and inviting President Johnson to visit them.

The New York Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to invite Mr. John Bright to visit America.

The Provisional Government is cordially supported by the people, and a strong desire is shown to resume former relations towards the National Government.

The rigours of military rule are gradually relaxing, but the Republican party condemn the pacific policy of the President, declaring his reconstruction plan as illegal.

The American cotton trade shows a good supply, with no falling off; the receipts at New York since August 1st have been at the rate of 830,000 lbs. per annum.

The burning of the American whaling fleet in the North Pacific by the Shenandoah has caused great anger against her commander.

Ketchum, Son, and Co., bankers at New York, have failed, owing to a junior member forging gold certificates and absconding; the defalcation is five million dollars; the delinquent has since been arrested. Numerous other commercial frauds have been discovered, creating great consternation and a financial panic.

Money at New York easy.

CANADA.

The Confederation scheme has been rejected by New Brunswick by an overwhelming majority; but expressing true loyalty to the British throne, the Executive assert that self-government is useless if the province is compelled to yield on this important question to the wishes of the mother country. The English language still urges the scheme.

FRANCE.

An important interchange of personal interviews between Napoleon and the King of Spain has taken place, bearing great political significance.
